

Odds of graduating from a regional college compared to graduating outside the region, among college completers

CTE engagement and economic constraints are associated with graduating college in the region, while academic mobility is associated with leaving

