

Predicted Likelihood of Persistent Non-Sustained Employment by Protective Characteristics

Attempting postsecondary education and AP exam participation are both independently associated with lower persistent instability.

