

Predicted Likelihood of Sustained Regional Workforce Participation by ACT Participation and Score

Simply taking the ACT is associated with meaningfully higher odds of sustained regional employment; among test-takers, this holds up across a range of scores.

