

Workforce participation outcomes five years after high school graduation, by location of postsecondary graduation

Where college completers graduated is strongly associated with where they end up working

