

Odds of Being Persistently or Broadly Disconnected from the Labor Force

Race, special education status, and gender are all associated with higher likelihood of being persistently or broadly disconnected.

