

Non-sustained workforce participation among non-college graduates over time

Non-sustained workforce attachment is common immediately after high school and remains prevalent many years later

