

Workforce participation outcomes five years after high school, by academic preparation count

Higher academic preparation counts is strongly related to sustained workforce participation in Minnesota

