

Postsecondary Non-Completion Is Closely Linked to Weak Workforce Attachment

High school graduates who do not complete college are disproportionately represented among those not meaningfully participating in the regional or Minnesota workforce five years after graduation.

